I will share with you an overview of the State of the Art in the conceptualization and research on in-service mentoring and professional learning in the study of teacher education. Drawing on insights from theory and research, we will critically discuss participants' practices challenges and research directions to be pursued.